Mid-sized Manufacturer Improves Productivity with Right-sized Staffing

The Challenge

Due to business growth, the company's staff accountant was overwhelmed with work and unable to accomplish all the necessary tasks promptly. Additionally, the company was struggling with outdated, inefficient processes that were holding them back. While the organization recognized these challenges, they simply didn't have the time to adequately solve the issues.

The Solution

After a detailed discussion with SN's Workforce Advisors, the company decided to hire a second full-time accounting employee. But, they also clearly needed help ASAP. SN stepped in and immediately provided a temporary, skilled professional to address their urgent needs. Additionally, SN's Talent Seekers managed the hiring process for the new employee from start to finish including advertising, resume review, and interviews.

The Results

Not only are the core accounting functions being handled on time, but the staff is operating at a higher efficiency level thanks to SN's process and workflow improvements. The company is benefitting from improved productivity and an elevated accounting department that can assist leadership in making better business decisions. Without the pressure of needing to fill their new position right away, the company could focus on finding the right fit for both the role and their culture.
